6. [ ] BRIEFING I accompanied [ ] OSR, to a briefing of Senator Dewey F. Bartlett (R., Okla.), on the military situation in Europe. Also present at the briefing was Fred Ruth, on the staff of Senator Bartlett. After the briefing had been going for 30 minutes Senator Bartlett invited Don Cotter and Don Sanders, Office of the Secretary of Defense, into the briefing. Apparently, they had been scheduled to brief the Senator after our briefing but because our briefing started a little late the Senator decided to get the opinions of both [ ] and Mr. Cotter in the same session. This procedure apparently upset Mr. Cotter but on balance the briefing went fairly well.

With reference to the recommendations regarding the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, Smith said Senator Frank Church (D., Idaho) had testified that the study on the need for a permanent intelligence committee was part of the S. Res. 400 requirements on the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and that the Select Committee should have that responsibility rather than the proposed Committee on Governmental Affairs. Smith said he thought the Rules Committee would amend S. Res. 4 to reflect this point.
